DEDICATION

Rare is the challenge of "doing" a reality. Yet rarer is a man, a genuine "doer," a "go-getter" for the mere betterment of humanity. Initiative, ability, and endless willpower; all are innate attributes of such a man.

This man began with a dream, inspired by relentless defiance of deplorable conditions. Thus, he instigated the Community Development Institute and gave Mars Hillians a chance to share themselves through tutoring and working in the community.

Eleven years he has given to us, so to him, our man, the Mars Hill man — Dr. Richard Lee Hoffman — we give our dedication.

Football Returns

Reprieved from the death sentence by loud support from students, alumni, trustees and other fans, MHC football made its comeback in 1969 with determination backed by a year of planning and recruiting and by a seemingly endless supply of enthusiasm. The results fully justified the reprieve.

Coach Dal Shealy and his assistant, Harold Taylor, were overwhelmed by a turnout of about 120 candidates for the team. Their first big task was to appraise each man then try to decide where each player could best contribute to the squad and to trim the roster to a manageable total of about 80.

In the three weeks before the first game they had to overcome problems created by the year's layoff and to try to mold four score individuals into a team. At first the drills were three times a day, then they tapered to twice and, finally, to one. The fact that most players reported in good physical condition helped.

Gradually the squad began rounding into shape. Former junior college All-American Marvin Parrot won the quarterback job; veteran Bernie Perchinski nailed down an outside linebacker's spot and headed up a fast-developing defense. Right cornerback Gary Findley, free safety Gerald Whitley and strong safety Gerald Price started "looking good." Parrot began throwing with accuracy and the receivers began running their patterns smoothly; timing improved and the Lions — the new Lions — took shape for the Sept. 13 opener in Meares Stadium against Glenville State of West Virginia.

The Lions drew first blood in the second quarter as Whitley picked off a Glenville pass and romped 35 yards for the score. Another veteran, David McFee, booted the first of many extra points; and the players and fans went wild with joy.

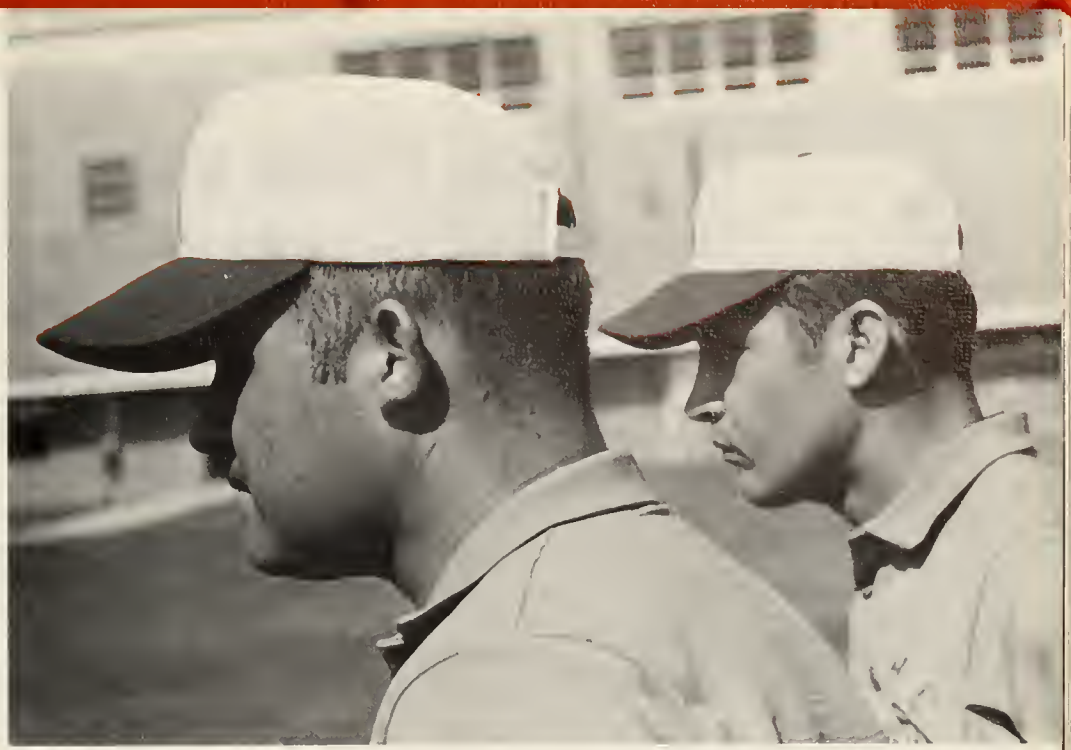
The visitors proved, however, that experience is important; and they clawed their way back with two TD's and a field goal to hand the Lion hopes a temporary setback, 7-17.

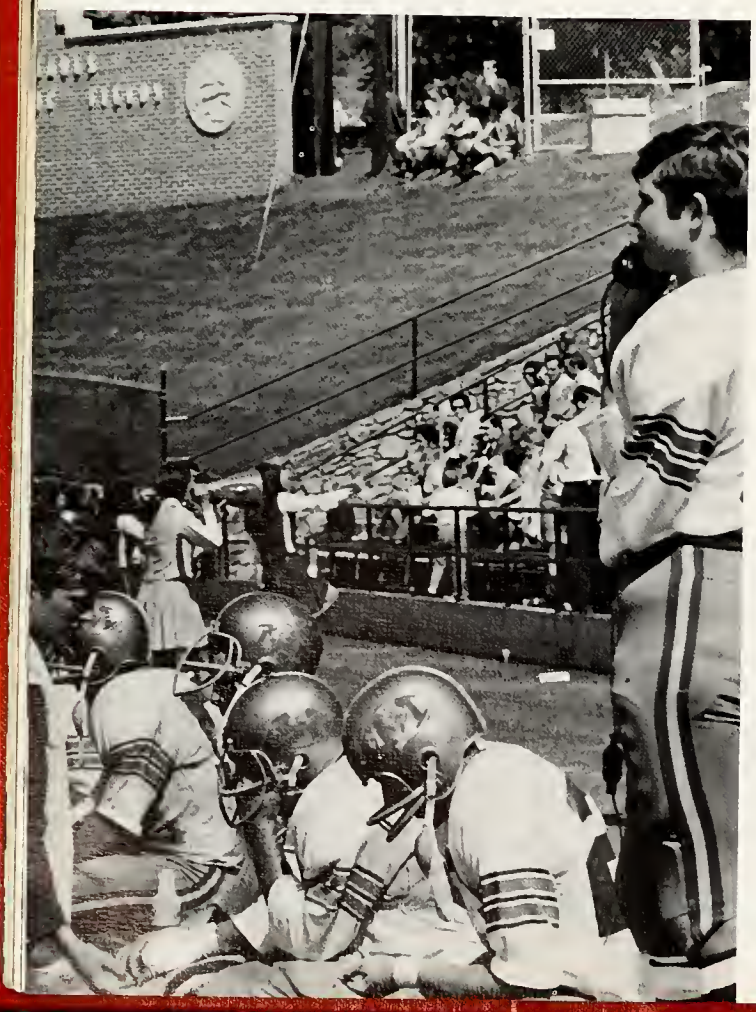
The play of the Lions in the opener did give a good hint of things to come. Defensive end Gene Radford recovered two fumbles, and halfback Robert Griffin gained 58 yards in 18 carries. Parrot connected on 9 of 17 passes, four of them to end Danny Phillips.

The performance of the new Lions evoked a newspaper comment that they had been "beaten on the scoreboard but not in spirit." Coach Shealy predicted, "I think we'll see a victory from these boys next week."

His boys made him a prophet. They whopped a Catawba JV team loaded with varsity players, 28-2. McFee booted field goals of 29, 35 and 33 yards, and linebacker Strib Barton intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and made 14 tackles.

A light drizzle failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Lion fans as they celebrated the team's first victory and Coach Shealy rewarded the players with a light workout the following Monday.





The junior varsity of Western Carolina became the Lions' second victim (21-14) in a night game played on Monday, Sept. 29, at Canton.

Findley and Whitley intercepted passes to set up scores by Griffin and fullback Ford West. The superb Lion defense was led by Ted Williams and Tony Surace.

Pushing across a tie-breaking TD in the fourth quarter, the Lions protected their lead with two inspired goal-line stands inside their 10-yard line.

Still flying high and surprising their critics, the Lions made it 3-1 with a 21-2 rout of the Appalachian junior varsity in Meares Stadium on Oct. 3, a Friday afternoon contest and a late addition to the schedule.

Parrot engineered a 96-yard scoring drive on the second series of downs. Griffin had 55 yards in the drive and capped it with the TD plunge.

Price recovered a fumble on the ASU 37 to set up the second score. Walker Hodges guided the team at QB, and halfback Terry Dease covered 22 of the 37 yards.

The final score came on a 30-yard run by Finley with an intercepted pass. Thus, the 1969 Lions came to homecoming with a winning record and high hopes against a big, explosive team from Bluefield State. It was a beautiful day for football with a large crowd of alumni back for the day's events.

Bluefield scored first but the Lions came right back with a touchdown drive capped by Griffin's TD dive.

The Lions defense proved the team's greatest asset as the two squads battled on even terms. The blue and gold squad was led by Bill Martin, Joe Hyatt, R. L. Lail, Ronnie McDaniels and Tom Purser.

In the fourth quarter McFee kicked a 33-yard field goal for the margin of victory, but again the defense had to save the day. Surace made a key play at the Lion 3, hitting a Bluefield runner so hard he fumbled and Williams recovered his second loose ball of the day.

A Georgetown (Ky.) team which had been averaging 347 yards per game total offense and 31 points was held to only 124 yards by the rugged Lion defense; but the visitors tacked a TD and field goal on the scoreboard and handed the Lions their second defeat, 0-10, and only shutout.

Parrott set a school record with 115 yards rushing, including one 63-yard run on a busted pass play.

Despite the fact that Coach Shealy pronounced his offense "the sharpest it has been all season" just before the game at Newberry (S.C.) on Oct. 25, the Lions suffered their third defeat, 6-14.

A fumbled punt and a blocked field goal attempt proved the undoing of the Lions.

November rolled around as Gardner-Webb, an old Baptist junior college rival, came to the campus to renew the rivalry. It was "Haywood County Night" and "Parents Night" for the parents of Mars Hill players.

The Lions offense exploded for 27 points and the defense held firm all the way. The Lions roared to 412 yards total offense and the defense held the Bulldogs to a measley safety. Rich Harris scored twice on passes from Parrot and Alan McCracken caught a 2-point conversion pass in the fourth quarter.

McDaniels had 11 tackles and a fumble recovery; and Barton pounced on two fumbles. Dennis Hefner also proved a demon on defense.

Enthused over their 5-3 record and eager to make it 7-3, the Lions faced the two final games on the road with optimism. Despite the fact that the West Virginia Tech team average 241 pounds per man — far bigger than the Lions — Shealy's charges played nose-to-nose.

McFee broke the scoring ice with a 31-yard field goal in the second period; then, stymied on the ground the Lions took to the air. Parrot completed 10 of 38 passes for 206 yards and the lone TD.

A minute before the half McDaniels recovered a fumble on the Tech 36. Parrot threw for 18 to Harris and for 17 to Dease and the score. Findley ran for 2 points to chalk up the final score, 11-0.

The defense intercepted two Tech passes and recovered three fumbles. Hefner batted down several passes, and Williams set a school record with 17 tackles. Zack Pinner, a demon on the line, suffered a broken rib and was out for the season.

Now it was 6-3 and the Lions wanted that seventh win at the expense of Hampton-Sydney.

H-S took the lead in the second quarter by smothering Parrot in the end zone for a safety. Then in the third quarter Griffin ran 16 yards for a TD. After that, however, the Lion offense never got inside the H-S 35.

A short MHC punt in the fourth quarter gave the home team good position and they punched across the winning touchdown with only 1:45 left in the game.

Even in defeat Parrot passed the 1,000-yard mark in passing yardage to rank himself third in passing in NAIA District 6 and fourth in total offense. Not surprisingly, the Lion defense grabbed top defensive honors in the district, allowing only 205.6 yards per game.

When it was time for the post-season laurels, Radford was named the "Most Valuable Player." Williams and Parrot were cited best on defense and offense, and Drew Plemmons was named the best blocker. "Soupy" Campbell got the special spirit trophy; and Danny Balcome and West shared the Marion Powell Award for displaying most outstanding sportsmanship. Barton had won the tackling honors; and Whitley, Parrot and West were named tri-captains.

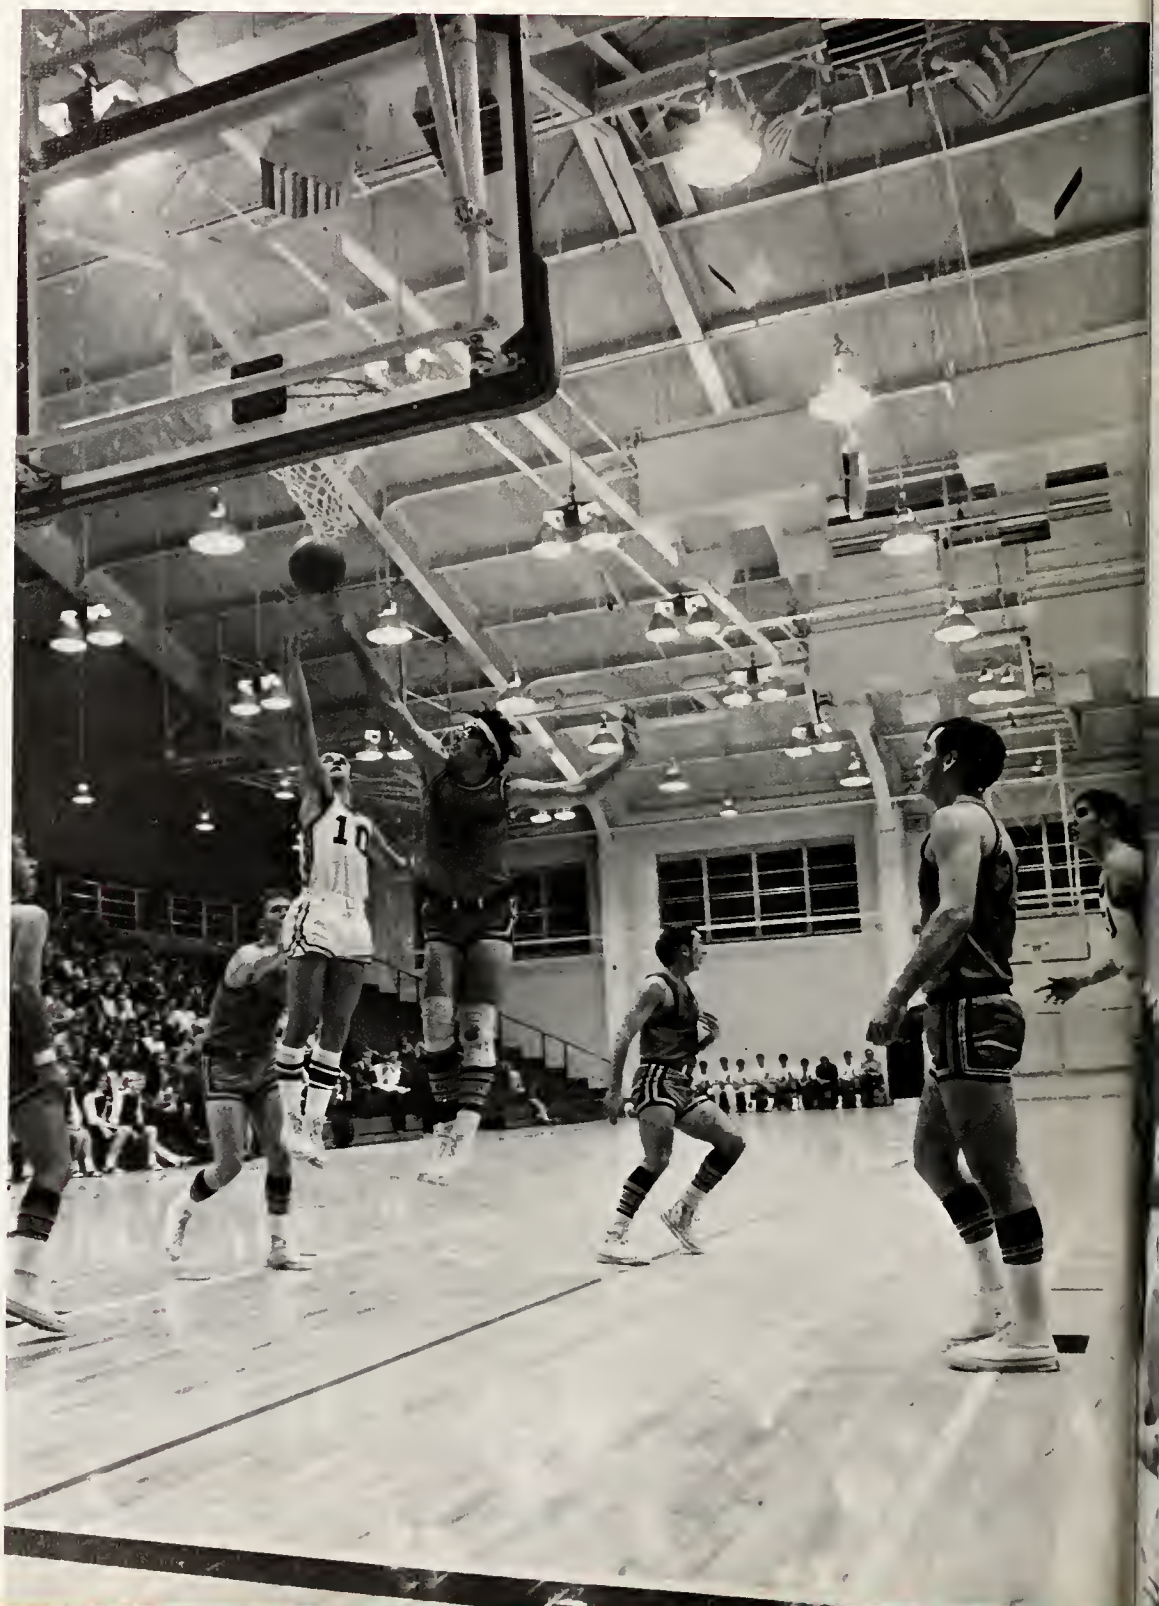
BASKETBALL '69 - '70



Looking for the best season ever . . . a stronger bench than in 1968-69 . . . missing Rudy Reeves but counting on Capt. Jim Wilmoth, Rodney Johnson, Dick Mazoyer and Eddie Miller . . . 6-6 Mike Smith should be able to help . . . freshman Gary Reeves, also 6-6, "will be a tremendous asset to our program" . . . Jim Medford, a reserve counted on to give the Lions "a strong bench for the first time" . . . Bob Peterson, who missed "68-69 with a broken hand and "mono", is hale and hearty again . . . practice begins earlier than usual . . . the crop of freshmen looks good . . . towering Chris Crowell (6-10) adds hope even though he won't be eligible until second semester . . . the longest, hardest schedule in Lion history begins . . . "we're playing defense more as a team" . . . ball stealing and the fast break are our secret weapons . . . if we can stay away from injuries that will help.

The Lions got off to a good start by beating Tusculum 89-67. Wilmoth previewed his season with 19 points.

The good start continued as Milligan fell 105-92 in Chambers Gym. Wilmoth and Mazoyer had 25 points apiece, and Bob Peterson chipped in 17 more.

King College of Bristol, Va., always tough for the Lions, started the Woodmen on a downward spin with an 86-74 licking. Four quick baskets by Reeves late in the second quarter gave the Lions a halftime lead, but they blew it in the second half. High scoring Lion was Mazoyer with 23.

Opening the Tip-Off Tournament in the UNC-A gym on the night after Thanksgiving, the Lions ran into a red-hot Gardner-Webb. The Bulldogs' great all-American candidate, George Adams, blazed for 45 points. Despite good ball handling by Miller, who had 16 points, and 19-point and 17-point efforts by Wilmoth and Mazoyer, the Lions came out on the short end of a 95-82 score.

The following night the Lions were completely cold and dropped a dull game to Berry College, 70-85. Wilmoth had 19.

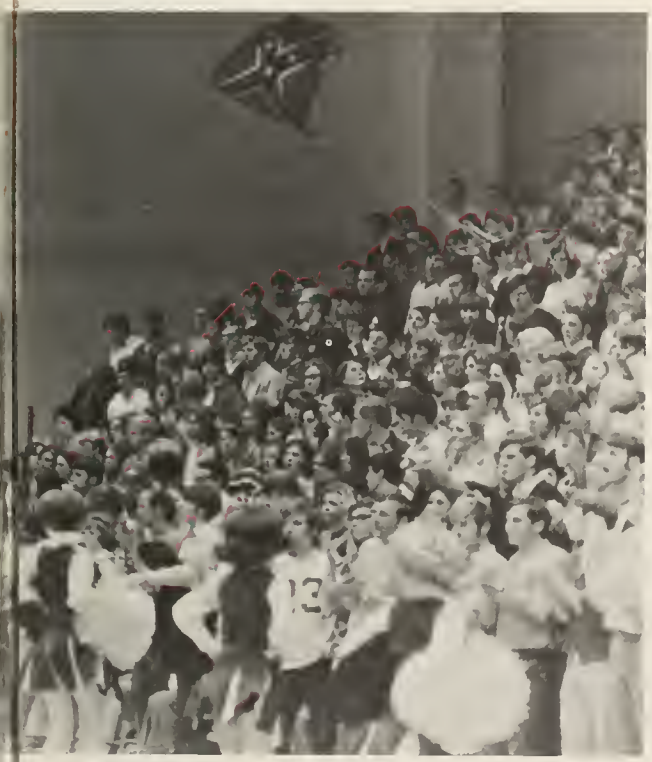
Next came a two-game road trip to South Carolina in which the Lions were edged by Erskine, 80-83, and clipped by Augusta, 79-100. Wilmoth hit a new high of 32 points in the first game, and Mazoyer had 26 against Augusta, led by its 7-foot center George Schrapen.

Next the Lions journeyed to Boiling Springs for a regular-season tilt with Gardner-Webb. Reeves and Wilmoth controlled the backboards with 17 and 13 rebounds; Mazoyer bagged 30 points and Wilmoth had 26 as the Lions socked it to 'em, 104-94. The loss was the first for the Bulldogs on their home court since February 1966.

The exhilaration of the victory was short-lived as the Lions dropped an 83-95 decision to Newberry in Chambers Gym, the beginning of an 9-game losing streak. The tailspin included a 94-101 loss to Erskine and Asheville Holiday Classic losses to the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, 88-109; Western Carolina, 83-90; and Tennessee Wesleyan, 63-74.

The other losses included Wofford, 75-87; a special contest with G-W at Canton, 101-106; Newberry, 84-91; and Presbyterian, 81-88.

Finally, in the first home game of the second semester, the jinx was broken as the Lions clobbered Milligan, 105-85, and began a win streak.



First they socked Milligan 105-85, and then they pulled the upset of the season by beating Western Carolina 85-76. Next they routed Maryville 109-90. They were temporarily derailed by nationally ranked Augusta, 83-99; but they bounced back with a 93-79 win over Presbyterian. Wilmoth's 30 points gave him 480 for the season, breaking the old mark of 476 set last year by Rudy Reeves.

Next came a 101-91 victory over Tusculum followed by a 72-89 upset at the hands of UNC-A.

Then came a moment of truth; the Bulldogs of Gardner-Webb were in Chambers Gym to see if they could avenge that previous loss at Boiling Springs. It was "Wilmoth and Mazoyer Night," a perfect occasion for the tribute since the two came to Mars Hill from Gardner-Webb. As it turned out, this was their night. Jim and Dickie helped guide the Lions to one of their most satisfying wins, 82-77. The big gun, scoring wise, was Johnson, who pumped in 30 points and, along with Wilmoth, hauled down 17 rebounds.

Just to prove their new-found effectiveness wasn't a fluke, the Lions came back on Valentine's night and pinned an 87-79 loss on the Washington & Lee Generals, who had previously beaten Navy. Mazoyer and Wilmoth shared scoring honors with 22 each.

Perhaps the victory was too heady, for the Lions responded by dropping a lop-sided 70-100 game to Maryville. Then, they jumped back into the win column with a nifty 82-71 win over Wofford. Wilmoth's 21 points broke the school scoring record for a career.

A return match with Western proved to be a fiasco as the referees called five technicals on the Lions to aid the Catamounts to an 85-80 decision. The experience apparently discouraged the Lions so much that they played one of their poorest games of the season in the finale against UNC-A, losing 67-87.

One of the bright spots of the year was the record-breaking of Wilmoth. He set new marks in single-game, season and career rebounding totals; and he hung up new records in rebounding averages for a season and for a career. His 1108 points in two years is also a new goal for future Mars Hill cagers to shoot at in their careers.

Members of S.A.M. have the opportunity for broader development in the field of management, not only by taking what the Society has to offer, but also by contributing ideas.

BUSINESS HONOR CLUB: Honor Club for Students Excelling in Business

The Mars Hill College Business Club, established in 1935, holds as its express purpose the improvement and advancement of its members. The programs and projects initiated during the past year are business oriented and reflect the true interests of the organization. Sponsoring trips to various business concerns, inviting guest speakers, and hosting the annual Business Club Alumni Association constitute the major projects of this club. The BCAA, organized in 1939, is composed of all former members of the Business Club. In addition to several other important projects, it provides a $200 scholarship each year to a member of the Business Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club is associated with the state and national association. Having regular meetings twice a month, the club centers its programs around various subjects such as careers in home economics, textiles, clothing, and family and child care. Some of the girls are now participating in the community development program.

SEA: Student Education Association

Officers of SEA. Betty Smith, Maria Hunt, Sandra Gwaltney, Wanda Connell, Glen Graves, Emma Jean Pegg, Bobbie Kelly, Shelia Penland, Greg Caldwell, Nancy Boggs

The association is a professional branch of the National Education Association, which helps to prepare education majors for the teaching profession.

The group has attended several conferences such as Southeastern Regional Conference in New Orleans, where their main topic was "Student Voice in Curriculum Planning." At the local realm, the club is attempting to work with the Juvenile Rehabilitation Center in Swannanoa.

W M H C: campus communication

Pi Sigma Phi: organization for physical education majors

Pi Sigma Phi, the club for physical education majors, is one on the largest organizations on campus. One of the big events of their calendar is the annual Christmas party. Phi Sigma Phi is headed by Robbie Henley, president; Peggy Roach, vice president; Pat Horton, secretary; and Don Balcome, treasurer.

Math Club

The Math Club, which is comprised of students excelling in mathmatics, is made up by the following members: Danny Foster, Ann Phillips, Glenn Robertson, Bob Bridges, Paul Pinkston, Mackie Johnson, David Cherry, Beth Bennett, Jack Frederick, Frankie Hough, Mat Graham and Robert Morgan.

Commuters Club

The Commuters Club is composed of all the day students. The club has regular meetings and participates in various activities such as the building of a prize-winning float in the Homecoming parade and making preparations for a new commuters lounge. The members are under the leadership of Lester Boyd, president; Buddy Cox, vice president; and Delores Griffen, sec.-treasurer.

SPRING SYMPOSIUM

Mr. Terry Sanford

In an historical period when many are struggling valiantly for individual rights, it seems appropriate for the college campus to be the place where the balancing responsibilities are also considered. This year's symposium was an attempt to focus attention not only on legitimate demands made on the society but also on the obligation for contribution to the society.

". . . man will find living a little more pleasant if he uses these three principles as his guidelines of life: Everything happens for the best; there is good in everything; and no matter what, be happy."

Ed Griffin

David Atwater

"I have been forced to change many of my opinions, but I have also leaned a lot about myself. I have not answered all my questions, but I am learning how to find the answers."

"Mars Hill College, as life itself, offers boundless opportunities if one will become sincerely involved, seeking always wisdom and strength through our Lord."

Bobbie Miller

John Britton

"Throughout the challenges of life we must always strive for the best to leave our posterity a better world in which to live."

Ford West

". . . we will look back on Mars Hill and say that Mars Hill might — just might — be a very special place, where some of the best days of our lives took place."

Barbara Fowler

". . . not only an institute dedicated to learning, but as a community of people eager to achieve better personal relationships. This desire has been expressed in a smile to a stranger, hours spent in Projects of the Community Development Institute, in student-teacher relationships, and in cooperative dorm living."

Debby Compton

"Be aware — be understanding — be loved."

Bill Pons

"My position as Student Government President has really contributed to the Whole make-up of my personality. I have become more tolerant of others and take them for what they are, not what they say or do or act."

Cindy Byler

"Four years at Mars Hill College have made me aware that life is relating not only person to person, but also experience to experience. Without such relationships, development is stifled and life soon becomes meaningless."

Margaret Kirk

"I am also grateful for the academic challenge which was thrown out to me. There were many times when I had to stretch to meet these standards, but I usually found it to be worth the effort."

Kathy Bowen

"As long as you stay in the middle of the road, you can take the curves whatever way they go."

Bill Williams

"The quality and worth of our institution has been and will continue to be judged by the lives of all in the community and the direction which each member chooses to follow."

Mary Belle Lawton

"Between the fun of being a freshman and the reality of becoming a senior, I realized that Mars Hill is a diminutive part of a small world — a world big enough for us all, but not so small that we can ignore it."

Linda Duck

"Sunshine reflects from dew filled daisies
While memory's dreams give sigh.
Tomorrow I will go away,
but never say Goodbye."

Greg Caldwell

"Living, the idyllic state of life, begins with tolerance, love, and peace — it ends with prejudice, hate, and war."

Bill Kilgore

"Life can be full, but only if you fill it."

Glen Graves

"Life is meaningful only if you are willing to live it. In order to live life you must be able to laugh, for laughter is the voice of the spirit reaching a moment of passion. Life is funny, but only for people who are willing to laugh at themselves. Life is tragic for those who cannot laugh."

Maria Hunt

"College is a place where a person can find out who he is. When he discovers his real self and sticks to being himself, he will gradually acquire his place in life."

"While at Mars Hill I have had some of the happiest days of my life and some of the saddest days of my life. I love Mars Hill and it will always be a special part of me."

Waynette Garland

". . . questions are more important than answers; people, more important than legalisms; and freedom, more important than bondage to dead ideas."

Wilbur Parrot

Wilson Laney

". . . most difficult . . . was to learn to accept individuals as themselves, and not as what I thought they should be. Under close scrutiny, the old prejudices just wouldn't stand up, so they were discarded along the way, like the excess baggage they really were, and replaced, I trust, with more realistic ideals. Understanding is a two way street."

Judy Suttenfield

"My thoughts about Mars Hill are that it is a great institution, but it is much more than an institution. It is full of opportunities in all areas. I suppose that it is one of the greatest things that has ever happened in my life."

A true kaleidoscope of emotions — bearing depression and grinding one's teeth in "I must go on." The joy of growing in intellect and maturity — knowing each mistake is an inner lesson. Belonging — "talking it over" with a friend yet finding contentment in solitude.

ban

Being ready to share a part of humanity and wanting to reach out — to absorb and attain the seemingly impossible. Accepting the ways of God.

This, a conglomeration of the good and the bad, is a challenge of the college complex but primarily a resolution toward happiness — our way — the Mars Hill way.

But later on the other side of time. . .

. . . . the apples no longer taste sweet, bridges fall down, meadows turn brown as life falls apart."

Rod McKuen

THE CONCEPTION OF THIS YEAR — one year of labor out of the way. We saw the shame of war, but the need for involvement, the heartbreak of poverty, the clashes of student rebellion and racism. We watched as our human existence was jeopardized by disease, pollution, and crime. We watched at a distance in security.

We sought to abolish the fears which abound within us. We glorified in sunshine for it was a means of enlightment and of accepting today and tomorrow. For, we are impressionists. As impressionists, we shall always have jobs.

This was our job!! None could have been more hellacious!

all dried up,
